

"RACE SQUAD"

Says Fear of Want Prompts Many Women to Dread Motherhood.

That the agitation against race suicide is wrong and that we as a nation are reading less and going to moving pictures more, and have developed a passion for travel for public amusement and public associations rather than the quietness of home life, were the charges made by Miss Little Stearns at the library school, Wednesday afternoon in a talk made to the Women's club.

Miss Stearns said these things are changing the American home from a real home into a place to go when every place else is a sleepover place.

Miss Stearns talked on what is happening to the American home in a lecture given by the Women's club, complimentary to its members Monday afternoon in the auditorium of the high school.

In discussing the changes that had been wrought in the American home life, Miss Stearns reviewed the modern scientific inventions that have replaced the industry and productive work of the home, that occupied the time of the mother.

"Have Suicide Agitation Wrong," Miss Stearns objected strongly to the agitation against race suicide, and declared: "So long as a government permits living conditions in which a very large percent of the infants born into this world die before they are two years old, it is not a government that is fit to be called a government."

It should be the business of the state, she said, to see that every child born into this world is born into conditions in which it can grow to healthy normal maturity. It is not the business of the state to see that the multiplication of the unfit that should give the nation the greatest concern.

"It is the bread winner that has as much to do with the upbringing of a woman for motherhood as the much denigrated love of luxury and life of ease."

In comparing the standard of living to hotel life, Miss Stearns said: "Hotels have the same relation to a home as an incubator does to a hen. It is a mechanical imitation of a living reality."

Denouncing Chamber's Writings, Miss Stearns denounced the writings of Robert Chambers, saying he was going more to disrupt the home in fact and lower the moral standard of the American home than any author today. She also attacked with him, George Bernard Shaw, Ibsen and David Graham Phillips, as writers derogatory to the home ideals and belittling the marriage tie upon which the safety and permanency of the home, as a national institution, depends.

Miss Stearns laid the blame for most of the disrupting conditions to a false standard of living. "Each family is trying to keep up appearances in competition with other families having twice as large incomes," she said. "It is artificiality from beginning to end," she said. Love, honor, comradeship, and unity are the fundamentals for home making.

Miss Stearns was introduced by Mrs. A. W. Foster, the president of the club, and a large host of friends gathered to hear her following her address.

Miss Emily Kemp sang "A Garden of Roses," accompanied by Mrs. W. Brown on the piano. Miss Kemp was selected as the vocalist for this occasion especially for the graduation exercises from the library preparatory school of Atlanta, Miss Stearns delivered an address to the graduating class.

IF YOU'RE KILLED, YOU'RE KILLED, SAYS TOMMY ATKINS; "SO WHY WORRY?"

BY FREDERICK PALMER.

British Headquarters in France, March 3.—British veterans have long ceased to fear death to the extent of brooding about it. They have become fatalists, in a way.

"If you're killed, you're killed; so why worry about it?" one of them said while the correspondents were being taken for a tour of the trenches.

From dawn to dusk the British regulars gained familiarity with death. Very proud are the men who have stuck it through from the time of the British landing until now. When one of them was asked about it, he said:

"Just luck, that's all. Maybe I'll get it from a sniper when this winter is over."

Profanity Is Abolished. At night the work in the neighborhood of the trenches is done. Across the first line behind the trenches, food and timber and everything needed in the trenches is piled up by hand in a wallow of mud. Let one hear no growling or snoring, when it would seem that human irritation must have an escape.

"Profanity comes too high," said a soldier. "The Germans may hear you, but they won't hear your life, but your pals."

Machine Guns Always Busy. With darkness falling over the flat country and the buildings becoming shadowy, the correspondents walked away from the cover of a village with the machine guns firing at the British front. The machine gun was growing louder toward the front. Whenever anyone spoke near the front, he is bound to hear the machine gun, even in this quiet spot of the British front.

"They can't fire at any definite object in the dark," queried a correspondent. "Perhaps—perhaps not," the officer replied. "The gun is laid for the top of their trench. We don't hold down the fire too much, as we want the Germans to know we are there."

"Are you in bullet range yet?" was asked. "Fifteen—200 yards. That's why we don't fire in the day time. The flares you see are going up from the German trenches," replied the officer.

These flares, like Fourth of July rockets, throw a glare over the sudden fields and revealed the faces of the correspondents and the officer and outlined their figures.

"If that way they keep watch to see that we are not creeping up for an attack," the officer added.

Another 200 yards of plunging in mud, and the correspondents descended into the wet earth below the trench. At the bottom of a great ditch. Step off that and one sank over his ankles. The correspondents pulled out a curtain and a lieutenant came out of his cellar, looking neat enough for a parade.

"You're going to get a good soaking," said the British officer and he kept his men up to it. It is amazing how private Thomas Atkins is in this sort of mud and mire.

"If the men get careless of their appearance and in their habits," say the officers, "this means that they are careless of their lives, which would be fatal. Thoroughness of detail and industry are of paramount importance in this kind of work."

Behind curtains, in the same kind of cellars as the officers occupy, were soldiers lying on board floors in their blankets above the water line. A subaltern was up for questioning when the commanding officer found one of the pumps was not working. Pumping alone keeps the trenches from being flooded.

DISEASE RAGES AMONG 70,000 AUSTRIAN PRISONERS. Geneva, Switzerland, March 3.—Advices received here from Serbia set forth that typhoid fever prevails among the Austrian prisoners to the number of 70,000 who are in the hands of the Serbians. The Serbians are asking for more doctors.

Smallpox also is said to be raging among these Austrian prisoners.

PRESBYTERIANS TO CALL ON MEMBERS

Every member of the First Presbyterian church will be called upon by the "every member" committee of the church on Sunday, March 21. This was decided upon at a meeting of the committee, held at the Hotel Stedman last night.

This plan was used successfully last year to obtain the budget for the church during the past year and it will be used again this year with additional stress placed on the collection of the annual gift. H. T. Bowie is chairman of the committee and is in charge of the canvass.

The church budget for the next year has been placed at $12,000 and the committee expects to raise this sum for the expenses of the church during the year.

Another luncheon will be held Tuesday at the Hotel Stedman and a dinner will be held at the church Friday evening, March 19, to complete plans for the canvass.

MRS. ANGLE'S BARE FEET FIGURE IN MURDER TRIAL

Bridgeport, Conn., March 10.—Impressions of both feet of Mrs. Helen M. Angle, taken on July 11, 1914, at police headquarters in Stamford, were put in as evidence today by the state, which is trying her on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Walter R. Ballou.

It is the intention of the prosecution, according to state's attorney Cummings, to show that the bloody bare foot prints in the lower hall way and in Mrs. Angle's rooms with the impressions of the defendant's feet, and that the bloody foot prints were made by Mrs. Angle.

KANSAS CITY WAS GIVEN CHANCE, FAILED, FEELS SAY. Chicago, Ill., March 8.—A statement was begun today on a motion to dissolve the temporary injunction issued recently restraining the Federal league from transferring the Kansas City franchise to Newark, N. J. E. K. Gates, counsel for the Federal league, contended before Judge Baldwin in the court that ample time was given the Kansas City men to protect their franchise.

"It was agreed that the club should raise $100,000 by December 1st," said Mr. Gates. "If it had raised this money, it would have redeemed the franchise. This failed to do."

SUES SOUTHERN PACIFIC FOR DAMAGES OF $40,000. In a suit filed against the Southern Pacific Railway Co. Tuesday, C. C. Call asks for $40,000 damages for alleged personal injuries.

The petitioner alleges that he received personal injuries to his legs and feet by the moving of a car upon which he was making repairs, an employee of the company, in one of the shops of the company.

GERMANS FORCE BRITISH RETREAT

Kaiser's Forces Fall Back From River Niemen Toward East Prussia.

London, Eng., March 3.—Obtaining fighting marks the battles along the eastern front on the continent, with the German slowly withdrawing from the river Niemen in the direction of their own east Prussian frontier. At the same time the new offensive movement against Warsaw and on the Polish side, which has not yet developed into the great engagement which has been expected in this country.

In the western arena of hostilities the only new feature lately has been the allied air attack on Ostend in the Champagne region, where the French have been assuming the offensive lately, a snow storm has given a forced rest to the troops.

German Attack Near Dismale. The French war office at Paris this afternoon gave out the following report on the progress of the war as follows:

"The only important occurrence since the last communiqué was a German bombardment east of Roonstrasse, which is south of Osnabrück, followed by an unsuccessful attempt at attack. The French repulsed the attack with heavy losses to the enemy at Reich Ackerhof, all of which were easily repulsed."

German Take Two Trenches. The general staff of the German army today gave out at Berlin a report on the progress of the war, which says:

"In the western arena of the war, in the hills of Loreto, our troops have captured two more trenches from the French. They took prisoner six officers and 250 men and seized two machine guns and two small caissons."

"In the Champagne district the fighting at Souain has not yet come to an end."

Many Russians Captured. In the eastern arena, East and south of Augustow, Russian troops have failed with losses to the enemy. At a point to the northeast of Lomza, the enemy left 100 prisoners in our hands after a desperate battle. In the northwest of Ostrovoienka, a battle has developed which is still going on. In engagements in the west and north, we took 3000 prisoners. Russian attacks to the north of Hlawka, which were repulsed, were followed by a Russian attack on the north of Hlawka, which was repulsed. Seventeen hundred and fifty Russians were taken prisoner in the west and north.

Turks Are Driven Back. An official communication from the general staff of the Russian army, sent by way of Petrograd, Russia, says:

"Our troops on March 1 occupied an important position beyond the river Thoruk (Turkish Armenia) throwing back the Turks to the southwest and inflicting upon them serious losses."

"On the other front there were no engagements."

Aerial Attack on Ostend. The British admiralty has issued the following statement:

"Wing commander Lennox reports that an attack on Ostend was carried out Sunday afternoon by six aeroplanes. Of these, two had to return owing to their petrol freezing. The remainder attacked Ostend and dropped 11 bombs on the submarine repair base and four bombs on the Kersand, the headquarters of the military."

All the aeroplanes and pilots returned safely. It is probable that considerable damage was done."

UNITED EMPIRE JUVENES TO BE REGulated

MEMBERS SELECT DUCK HONORED BY BRITISH CLUB; MEETING AND SMOKER IN SPITE OF THE SNOW.

Notwithstanding the weather, 48 enthusiastic members of the United Empire club of El Paso, attended its annual meeting on Monday evening. The address of the president, H. E. Duck, gave a resume of reasons leading to the club's formation, the work done by the officers, executive committee and relief fund committee, and what, in his opinion, should be the policy and work of the club in the future.

The report of the secretary, A. E. Rowlands, and the treasurer, H. T. Vansford, showed that the club is in an exceptionally flourishing condition. With 140 members and applications being constantly received. The members showed their appreciation of the very efficient work done by reflecting all of the officers for the ensuing year as also for the members of the executive committee, in also being the chairman of the relief fund committee.

The officers for the year ending March 31, 1915, were: President, H. E. Duck; president, James S. Morrison; vice president, A. E. Rowlands; secretary, Henry T. Vansford; treasurer, W. R. Jamieson; Ernest Tudor; William McCormick; Charles W. Storer as members of the executive committee, and J. L. Stanton, financial secretary.

A vote of thanks was given to the officers and executive committee, in appreciation of the work they have done since the club's formation and during the term just ended.

After the business of the meeting was completed, those present enjoyed the smoker which followed, and for which an excellent program had been prepared. Those contributing to this entertainment included the "Bees" quartet, composed of R. A. Morris, A. A. Mundell, F. J. Malone and J. Price; Harry Doran, J. L. Stanton, E. T. Craig, Dr. G. H. Higgins and Dr. W. R. Jamieson. Mr. McCormick was accompanist. Light refreshments were served. The smoker was presided over by H. E. Duck, the British vice consul.

IMPORTS AT THE PORT MONDAY INCLUDED four cars of cotton seed cake and two cars of cotton, all from the Laguna district.

COUNCIL TO MEET WEDNESDAY TO CONSIDER LAW; STORM CAUSES ACTION.

Recognizing the need of more stringent rules for the regulation of jitney cars following the storm Monday, members of the city council will meet at a committee of the whole at the city hall Wednesday morning for a discussion of the subject.

While the council has for some time recognized the need of regulating the jitney cars, the poor service rendered Monday by the various companies and the independent drivers unquestionably has hastened action.

"The council has had under consideration for some time the matter of establishing more stringent rules governing the jitney car service," said alderman W. H. Clayton Tuesday. "The numerous accidents that have occurred through reckless driving has brought forcibly to mind the necessity for some action that will tend to safeguard the public and we expect to take some definite action soon. The members of the council will meet Wednesday morning to make an investigation to see what can and should be done."

It is proposed to regulate the routes, make some rules governing schedules and fares, and probably enact a rule fixing responsibility upon drivers. The matter of requiring drivers to pass an examination to establish their fitness to drive cars has been seriously considered and it is probable that any new measures taken will include a provision of that kind.

MATJOY ACQUITTED ON WIFE MURDER CHARGE. James Matjoy, charged with the murder of his wife, Anna Matjoy, several weeks ago, was acquitted by a jury in the 24th district court Tuesday morning.

Judge W. D. Howe, in charging the jury, instructed it to bring in a verdict of not guilty on the ground that the evidence had shown that Matjoy shot in self defense while being attacked with a butcher knife in the hands of his wife.

ALTA VISTA IMPROVEMENT CLUB TO HOLD A SMOKER. The Alta Vista Improvement club will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Alta Vista school building. Matters of interest to property owners in the Alta Vista district will be discussed. The meeting will be in the nature of a smoker.

PORTER RESIGNS AS CRUCES MAYOR

San Crues, N. M., March 3.—P. P. Porter, long resident of the Fort Huachuca, has resigned as mayor of the city. The reason stated by Mr. Porter for giving up the position is that he finds he is unable to devote the necessary time to the duties of the office.

COL. PARKE HONORED BY OFFICERS OF TWENTIETH

Officers of the 20th Infantry gave a stag smoker for Col. John S. Parke, commander of the regiment, who has been transferred to the Ninth Infantry and will go to Laredo, Texas, soon.

The smoker was held in the regimental club room on Tuesday. The officers of the regiment, who have been transferred to the Ninth Infantry, and was attended by all of the officers of the 20th.

Capt. Robert W. Mearns, adjutant of the 20th Infantry, spoke for the officers and expressed the regret of the entire regiment because Col. Parke was leaving the command. Col. Parke responded and told the officers how pleasant his associations with them had been since he joined the regiment here.

Major W. R. Sample, formerly adjutant general of the brigade, spoke as one of the newer officers of the regiment and expressed the regret of his squadron at losing Col. Parke.

We Weld Any Metal That Melts

Cleveland City Forge & Iron Co., Forgings of all kinds. Cleveland, O.

TURNBUCKLE DEPARTMENT. W. S. BIDDLE, Mgr. J. A. COSTELLO, Asst. Mgr.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: The bearer, Mr. Jos. M. Fitzpatrick, proprietor of the Cleveland Brazing & Welding Company, has done considerable work for our company in the past few years in welding both cast iron and steel, by the oxy-acetylene method of welding. His work has always been entirely satisfactory to us and we have considered him an expert in this line. While we have installed in our plant an oxy-acetylene welding system, we have found it necessary at times to call on him for expert advice in certain lines of work, which he has always given us very cheerfully, and we have always found his advice to be of great value to us.

We can cheerfully recommend him for any work he may secure along this line, and trust this letter will be of service to him in getting any work for which he may apply.

WHAT DYSPEPTICS SHOULD EAT

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE. "Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble are nine times out of ten, due to acidity; therefore stomach sufferers should, whenever possible, avoid eating food that is acid in its nature, or which by chemical action in the stomach develops acidity. Unfortunately, such a rule eliminates most foods which are pleasant to the taste as well as those which are rich in blood, flesh and nerve building properties. This is the reason why dyspeptics and stomach sufferers are usually so thin, emaciated and lacking in that vital energy which can only come from a well fed body. For the benefit of those sufferers who have been obliged to exclude from their diet all starchy, sweet or fatty food, and are trying to keep up a miserable existence on gluten products, I would suggest that you try a meal of any food or foods which you may like, in moderate amount, taking immediately afterwards a teaspoonful of beaurated magnesia in a little hot or cold water. This will neutralize any acid which may be present in the stomach, and, if formed, and instead of the usual feeling of uneasiness and fullness, you will find that your food agrees with you. One dose will convince. Severe cases of years' standing often greatly benefited within 24 hours. SELF-RELIANT HOME DOCTORS. In what women are called who all over this broad land make their annual collection of roots and herbs, and rely upon recipes which our pioneer mothers found dependable for different family ailments. In one of these recipes, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had its origin and so successful has it proved that there is hardly a city, town or hamlet in America where some woman who has been restored to health by its use, does not reside.—Advertisement.
